Course Proposal

Course Title: Training in the field of Endodontics

Course Objective: The fellowship program in Endodontics is designed to provide the BDS graduates with advanced training in Endodontics. The program has strong preclinical and clinical components to facilitate high degree of mastery in the field of Endodontics. The quality time spent in treating the patients afford a broad based clinical experience in conventional and advanced procedures. The BDS graduates can learn and improve the skills under the guidance of the Department staff to excel and develop a unique practice in the future.

Course Outcome: After the course the candidates will be evaluated based on skill levels and a feedback form is obtained regarding the knowledge gained from the course. The course will enable the BDS graduates to confidently perform routine Endodontic procedures in regular clinical practice.

Course Audience: BDS graduates
